catalogue 2020

Announcing this year's collection!

We want you to feel nicely dressed at work. Appealing clothes of good quality, clothes that you feel comfortable with, should be a pretty obvious choice. On the following pages we present our range and hope you will find your favourites.

During the year we will release several new products. You will find all news as well as the products in this catalogue in our online store at www.hejco.com. If you have any questions about our range, or if you have any other queries, do contact us at support@hejco.com.

Follow us on social media to gain inspiration and to make sure you're the first to see our new product releases.

Lyocell

We can finally present our first sustainable collection made of Lyocell. A soft, comfortable and sustainable material with amazing qualities.

Limited edition

As part of our sustainability work we are now launching our first circular collection. The garments are made from surplus-production fabrics.

Perfect Curve

We are truly proud to introduce our new Perfect Curve product line. Wonderful feminine garments in larger sizes that offer a perfect fit.

Re:Use; Re:Duce, Re:Cycle Re:Hejco!

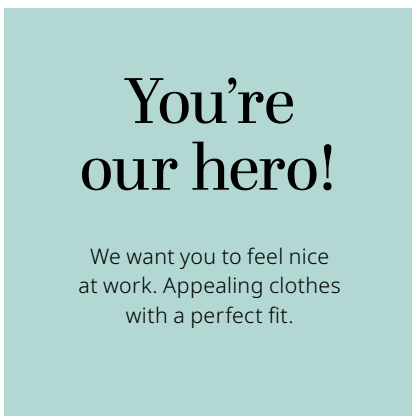

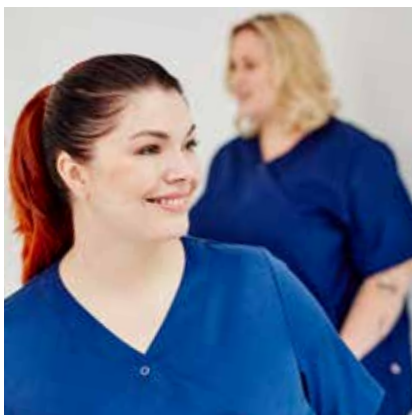

We are pleased to offer all Hejco customers the opportunity to send their worn-out work-clothes back to us. We will then see to it that every single item is taken care of in the best possible way. The focus is on giving our garments a second life, it's about taking total responsibility. Just because a product has reached the end of its intended lifetime with one user, this does not mean it is useless to someone else.

On the contrary, we're convinced it still has value and can be reused for a different purpose!

Every year we design, manufacture and transport hundreds of thousands of garments from our warehouse to customers all over the world. Products that have been created with love and dedication to make your daily work that much easier. Their production has had an impact on the environment, and we want to take responsibility for this and do our best to give these products a second life.

Together we can make a difference!w

Health, care & dental

In this chapter you will find the products for those who work with care, dental and health. Here you will find the classics with the obvious design mixed with exciting news. That the garment is comfortable is a must of course and that they can be washed over and over again.

Lyocell – a more environmentally optimised material

Lyocell is made from cellulose and is produced in a more environmentally friendly way. Lyocell is refined in a closed loop, with 99% of the non-toxic solvents from the production process being recycled. One of the many other benefits of Lyocell is that it requires less water to produce than cotton does. In addition, Lyocell breathes incredibly well, it is durable, has natural antibacterial properties, and is 50% better than cotton at transporting moisture away from the body. Like cotton, Lyocell is 100% biodegradable.

Kitchen

A woman with her hair in a bun, wearing a black chef's jacket, is smiling while operating a professional espresso machine in a kitchen setting. The background is softly blurred, showing kitchen equipment and warm lighting.

In this chapter you will find chef's whites, aprons and accessories ideal for your needs in the kitchen. Your clothes can help create the professional image you want to convey of yourself and your workplace. We are happy to help with printed and embroidered details for a more personal touch. Measurement Shoe

SHOE SIZES

In the shoe table below, you can see which foot-length corresponds to the shoe's inner measurements, as well as the shoe sizes. You can measure your foot by simply laying a piece of paper against a wall, standing on the paper with your heel against the wall, and then drawing a line in front of your big toe.

FABRIC COMPOSITION

Durability, easy care and consistency of shape; these all depend on the choice of fabric and its composition.

100% POLYESTER. Of all materials, synthetic materials are easiest to care for. Garments made of 100% polyester dry very quickly after washing and never need ironing. Besides this, no other material is as durable, nor as good at retaining shape and colour. On the other hand, clothing worn next to the body should really be made of natural materials, in order to compensate for the reduced capacity for absorbing moisture and for heat insulation.

65/35% POLYESTER/COTTON. A material that contains enough polyester to ensure ease of care, durability, shape-retention and fastness of colour. The cotton element makes the fabric softer and provides a certain capacity for the absorption and release of excess warmth.

50/50% POLYESTER/COTTON. A mixture of fibres that combines the benefits of both the cotton and the polyester. In simple terms, this makes for a light and durable material that retains the soft feel of cotton. It is still the case that the polyester is better at preserving the colours, while the garment is more resistant to creasing and easier to care for than an equivalent made purely of cotton.

50/50% LYOCCELL/POLYESTER. A fibre blend that combines the best properties of both lyocell and polyester. The material is light and durable thanks to the polyester, and has a comfortable, luxurious feel thanks to the lyocell. The lyocell also gives the garment a nice drape and gloss, while the polyester retains colour better, makes the garment more wrinkle-resistant and helps it to keep its shape.

60/40% COTTON/POLYESTER. A quality that is very close to that of pure cotton. This makes for soft and comfortable garments that allow the release of most of any excess warmth. But there are still a few important differences. The polyester means that the fabric is easy to care for, durable and crease-resistant. It will also retain its colour for longer than an equivalent garment made purely of cotton.

100% COTTON. It doesn't get more comfortable than this. Pure cotton is a wonderful fabric to wear next to the skin. It has a large capacity to absorb and release the majority of any excess warmth; a quality that helps you to feel clean and fresh for longer. Dry cotton has an isolating effect that makes it pleasant in both cold and warm environments. All of our cotton fabrics are treated so as to make them as easy to care for as possible. Most garments require, however, a certain amount of ironing. Bear in mind that cotton fabrics can shrink by between 2 and 6%.

WASH CORRECTLY

In order to preserve the special qualities of each fabric, you should carefully follow the symbols that indicate the care instructions for the garment. These are included on the labels inside your garment. If you are unsure, you will find the explanation in the table below.

- Do not mix white or light coloured garments with strong colours.
- Heavily soiled items should never be washed together with light coloured garments.
- Never wash towelling, socks or similar together with woven materials.
- Leaving items to soak is always risky – they can lose their colouring.
- Never leave anything in soak for as long as overnight – you should preferably use your washing machine's soak programme.
- Special stain removers should always be applied prior to washing.
- Turn all garments inside-out; colours and fabric surfaces will be preserved for longer.
- Empty all pockets. Close zips and Velcro fastenings.
- Washing by hand is no gentler than machine-washing. Therefore, clothes should always be washed in a washing machine unless the washing instructions state otherwise.
- Do not wash at a temperature that is too low! If the washing symbol indicates 60°C, you should not wash it at 40°C just to be cautious. Colours may be stabilised at 60°C but fade at lower temperatures.
- Avoid washing coloured garments with washing detergent that contains bleach.
- Do not overfill the washing machine. This can cause permanent creasing that is impossible to remove by ironing.
- After washing, garments should be stretched out before drying.
- The care instructions for some of our garments contain the words "Do not tumble-dry". Woollen garments must never be tumble-dried.
- Never tumble-dry at a temperature that is higher than the highest permitted washing temperature.
- Dark garments should ideally be ironed on the reverse side. This improves their appearance and eliminates shiny seams.

STAIN REMOVAL

- Try to remove the stain at once, while it is still "fresh", if you know what it is. Do not rub it in! It should be dissolved. Scrape it off if possible.
- Fat – Remove immediately with pure petrol, acetone or even methylated spirits using as little liquid as possible (risk of leaving rings).
- Blood – Remove immediately using cold water, and then hot water with biological detergent containing perborate.
- Coffee – Remove immediately with hot water and biological detergent containing perborate.
- Felt-tipped pen – Methanol or methylated spirits on a wad of cotton wool. Rinse with water.

FABRIC CONDITIONER

- Use fabric conditioner sparingly. Using too much can damage the textiles.

WHITE STAINS FROM HAND-DISINFECTANT

- The bindings in the thickening agent cannot be dissolved by normal, alkaline washing. It is therefore important to, prior to washing, soak the garment in an acidic solution (e.g. citric acid).

	Wash in water using a normal spin cycle. The numbers in the bathtub = washing temperature in °C		Colour wash		Bleaching allowed		Iron at a high heat, max 200°C
	The line means that you should only half-fill the machine with washing and select a short spin cycle. The numbers in the bathtub indicate the washing temperature in °C		White wash		Do not bleach		Iron at a high heat, max 150°C
	Handwash 30°C. Do not wring		May be tumble-dried		May be dry cleaned using perchlorethylene, mineral spirits, or similar.		Iron at a high heat, max 100°C
	WOOL WASH A garment with double lines must be washed on a wool wash at a maximum of 40°C		Tumble-dry – low heat		Do not dry clean		Do not iron
	Do not wash		Do not tumble-dry
